SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

Easter, the most joyous festival of the Christian Church, the most widely observed religious anniversary, the most showy and beautiful period of the year, the emblem of life and of hope, the season of the return of the flowers, and the time when the birds are observed throughout the world to-day.

In the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran Churches special emphasis is placed upon the observance of Easter, making it the greatest feast in the calendar of the church, and the date from which all other movable feasts are calculated.

Display of Flowers.

Flowers are the peculiar token of Easter, typifying the creation or rebirth of the spring, symbolic of the resurrection of Christ and of the immortality of life. Similarly the custom of exchanging Easter eggs grew out of the ancient traditions, colored eggs having been given the color of red, signifying the blood of redemption, the egg being the symbol of the life dormant, or buried, awaiting the morning of its resurrection. The exchange of flowers as gifts becomes more and more popular each year, and the florists' shops at Easter time are a profusion of sweet-scented blossoms.

Coming as the season does at the close of a period of serious reflection to the devout, and being in its nature a joyous anniversary, and falling usually at the opening of springtime, when the earth is blossoming forth in every profusion of color, Easter is regarded as an appropriate time for display of bright colors and flowers.

Time-honored custom has decreed new spring outfits and light colors, and the season is a time of beauty to the beholder. Custom has decreed in Richmond a general church attendance in observance of the day, and a general promenade through Franklin Street to the cathedral after the Easter Sunday services were of a solemn and mournful character, typifying the sorrow of the church over a crucified Lord, the festival of Easter Sunday shows forth the joy of the church over the resurrection of the Lord.

At the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart pontifical mass will be celebrated by Rt. Rev. Bishop Van de Vyver, at 11 A. M.

The bishop will be assisted in this service by the following priests of the diocese: Archpriest, Rev. J. E. O'Reilly, pastor of the cathedral; Deacons, Rev. J. E. Wilson, of St. Peter's, and Rev. C. E. Hannigan, of St. Michael's; Deacons of the Mass, Rev. Thomas A. Rankin, of St. Patrick's; subdeacon, Rev. John J. Massey, of the cathedral.

The master of ceremonies will be Rev. Albert Goetz, O. S. B., of St. Mary's Church.

The Easter sermon at the Cathedral will be preached by Rev. Thomas D. Rankin, of St. Patrick's Church. The main altar of the cathedral will be artistically decorated with white flowers and palms, as will also the chanels and nearly all the Episcopal churches of the city.

Easter Monday. Easter Monday, observed everywhere as a general holiday and the chief in the coming of the springtime, is usually marked by a general rush to the country, the parks and the early fishing places. Easter Monday officially opens the picnic season, as well as the time of boating, fishing and other outdoor sports.

LOUDY AT MIDNIGHT, BUT ALL HOPING FOR BEST. What will the weather be to-day? How many thousands people got up and looked out of their windows about midnight, this morning, and thought about the effect of dampness on new hats?

Yesterday afternoon the weather bureau predicted "fair and cooler for tonight and Sunday." Later in the night the weather man hedged himself.

DEATHS.
BARKER.—On March 29, 1907, my dear husband and our father, W. J. BARKER, fell asleep in death after a brief illness. Although he had been almost a continual sufferer for a number of years, he bore his afflictions with patience and fortitude, and he was ready to die. His last words were: "I am going home." He was born in Sussex county, December 18, 1832, but for a number of years had resided in Richmond. He leaves a wife, fifteen children and many grandchildren to mourn for him.

Dear papa, we miss you. Your presence can never be forgotten, and with Christian fortitude we will bear our grief and try to live so we will all be joined with you in heaven.

But why should we weep when the weary one rests?

In the mansion of glory prepared for the best?

For death is only a dream.

Only a dream and glory beyond the dark stream;

How peaceful the slumber, how happy the waking;

For death is only a dream.

The funeral took place from Denny Street Methodist Church, of which he was a member, at 4:30 o'clock Saturday evening, and the burial was in Oakwood Cemetery.

The True Test of a Boy's Suit is Its Wearing Quality

The strongest argument in favor of the Security-Bond Guaranteed Suit is a "Test." Mothers who are fortunate enough to have playful and romping boys, will delight in clothing them in SECURITY-BOND Suits. Every weak part doubly strengthened; every stitch sewed for "keeps." Fabrics are the toughest for wear, patterns the most pleasing and style the most authoritative. Blue Serges and Fancy Mixtures.
